Case No. 2:20-cv-01637-GMN-BNW

8 Plaintiffs,

ORDER

9 v.

10 Scientific Games Corporation, et al.,

11 Defendants.

13 Presently before the Court are four related motions. First, Defendants filed a motion to 14 stay discovery. ECF No. 77. Plaintiffs responded at ECF No. 83, and Defendants replied at 85.
15 Second, the parties filed a proposed discovery plan and scheduling order. ECF No. 80. Third, 16 Defendants filed a motion for a protective order. ECF No. 84. Plaintiffs responded at ECF No. 88, 17 and Defendants replied at ECF No. 89. Fourth, Plaintiffs filed a motion to compel at ECF No. 91.
18 Defendants responded at ECF No. 93, and Plaintiffs replied at ECF No. 95.

19 I. Background

20 This is a putative class action brought by certain plaintiff casinos. Plaintiffs generally 21 allege the following: Plaintiffs have been harmed by Defendants' monopolization of the sale of 22 automatic card shuffling machines. ECF No. 39. Defendants filed multiple sham litigations to 23 enforce invalid patents (that were obtained by committing a fraud on the U.S. Patent and 24 Trademark Office). Id. This conduct resulted in Defendants' unlawful monopoly of the automatic 25 card shuffling market. Id. Plaintiffs purchased card shuffling machines from Defendants at 26 increased, monopoly-based prices and thus were harmed by Defendants' conduct. Id. As a result, 27 Plaintiffs filed this suit. Id.

1 Defendants have since moved to dismiss this case. No. 49. Defendants argue that this case
2 should be dismissed because the statute of limitations has run. Id. Alternatively, Defendants move 3 to compel arbitration, arguing that the parties contracted to arbitrate disputes such as this. Id.
4 Defendants also argue that if the case is not dismissed or moved to arbitration, it should be 5 transferred to the Northern District of Illinois. Id. Plaintiffs oppose Defendants' motion to 6 dismiss, arbitrate, or transfer venue. ECF No. 54.

7 Plaintiffs also moved for partial summary judgment. ECF No. 50. Generally, Plaintiffs 8 argue that Defendants are collaterally estopped from relitigating whether they unlawfully 9 monopolized the automatic card shuffling market, as this issue was decided against Defendants in 10 another case. Id. Defendants disagree and oppose this motion. ECF No. 63.

11 In light of Defendants' pending motion to dismiss and Plaintiffs' pending motion for 12 partial summary judgment, Defendants moved to stay discovery. ECF No. 77. Plaintiffs opposed 13 this request. ECF No. 83. The parties reiterated their dispute about whether discovery should 14 proceed in their proposed discovery plan and scheduling order. ECF No. 80. Additionally, 15 Plaintiffs propounded discovery on Defendants, and Defendants moved for a protective order 16 based on their pending motion to stay discovery and other specific objections they have to 17 Plaintiffs' discovery requests. ECF No. 84. Plaintiffs opposed this motion (ECF No. 88) and filed 18 a motion to compel responses to their discovery requests. ECF No. 91. Defendants oppose this 19 motion to compel. ECF No. 93.

20 The Court will address Defendants' motion to stay discovery, followed by Defendants' 21 motion for a protective order, Plaintiffs' motion to compel, and the parties proposed discovery 22 plan and scheduling order.

23 II. Motion to Stay Discovery (ECF No. 77)

24 Courts have broad discretionary power to control discovery. See Little v. City of Seattle, 25 863 F.2d 681, 685 (9th Cir. 1988). When deciding whether to grant a stay of discovery, the Court 26 is guided by the objectives of Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 1 that ensures a "just, speedy, and inexpensive 27 determination of every action." Kor Media Group, LLC v. Green, 294 F.R.D. 579, 581 (D. Nev.
28 2013). Accordingly, considerations of judicial economy and preserving the parties' resources may

1 warrant a stay in some cases. U.S. for Use & Benefit of Newton v. Neumann Caribbean Int'l, Ltd., 2 750 F.2d 1422, 1426-27 (9th Cir. 1985).

3 The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure do not, however, provide for automatic or blanket 4 stays of discovery just because a potentially dispositive motion is pending. See Skellerup Indus.
5 Ltd. v. City of L.A., 163 F.R.D. 598, 600-01 (C.D. Cal. 1995). In fact, a dispositive motion
6 ordinarily does not warrant a stay of discovery. See Twin City Fire Ins. v. Employers of Wausau, 7 124 F.R.D. 652, 653 (D. Nev. 1989); Turner Broadcasting System, Inc. v. Tracinda Corp., 175
8 F.R.D. 554, 556 (D. Nev. 1997). However, when a party moves for a stay because a dispositive 9 motion is pending, the court may grant the stay when “(1) the pending motion is potentially 10 dispositive; (2) the potentially dispositive motion can be decided without additional discovery;
11 and (3) the Court has taken a ‘preliminary peek’ at the merits of the potentially dispositive motion 12 and is convinced that the plaintiff will be unable to state a claim for relief.” Kor Media Group, 13 294 F.R.D. at 581.

14 Here, Defendants requested a stay of discovery because they have a potentially dispositive 15 motion pending, and Plaintiffs have a potentially partially dispositive motion pending. ECF No.
16 77. The Court reviewed the parties’ briefs on the motion to stay discovery and took a preliminary 17 peek at their dispositive motions. Having conducted this preliminary peek, the Court is not 18 convinced that Plaintiffs will be unable to proceed with their claims in this Court. The Court is 19 neither convinced that Defendants will succeed on their statute of limitations defense at this point 20 in the litigation nor is it convinced that all Plaintiffs’ claims are subject to arbitration. The Court 21 is also not convinced that this case should or will be transferred to the Northern District of 22 Illinois. The Court will not, however, provide an in-depth analysis of its evaluation of the motion 23 to dismiss.

24 The district judge will decide the dispositive motion and may have a different view 25 of the merits of the underlying motion. Thus, this court’s “preliminary peek” at the 26 merits of the underlying motion is not intended to prejudge its outcome. Rather, 27 this court’s role is to evaluate the propriety of an order staying or 28 limiting discovery

1 Tradebay, LLC v. eBay, Inc., 278 F.R.D. 597, 603 (D. Nev. 2011). In the Court’s broad 2 discretion, it will order the parties to proceed with discovery because it is not convinced 3 Defendants will succeed on their dispositive motion.

4 III. Motion for a Protective Order (ECF No. 84)

5 Defendants move for a protective order because they have a motion to stay discovery 6 pending and because they have certain specific objections to Plaintiffs’ discovery requests. See 7 ECF No. 84. The Court will deny Defendants’ motion to a protective order without prejudice
8 because it is denying Defendants’ motion to stay discovery and because it is not clear to the Court 9 that the parties have fully met and conferred on Defendants’ specific objections to Plaintiffs’ 10 discovery requests. See id. at 3 (meet and confer declaration); LR 26-7(c) (discovery motions 11 must include “a declaration setting forth the details and results of the meet-and-confer conference 12 about each disputed discovery request.”); LR 16-1(d) (“In all cases, the court may order the 13 parties to meet and confer to discuss . . . any other matters the court deems appropriate.”).
14 Furthermore, Defendants state in their responses and objections to Plaintiffs’ discovery requests
15 that they will amend their responses within 15 days of a ruling on Defendants’ motions. See ECF
16 No. 91-1. Accordingly, the Court will order Defendants to amend their responses within 15 days 17 of this order. To the extent the parties disagree about the propriety of Defendants’ responses and 18 objections, they must meet and confer about each specific discovery request. If they cannot 19 resolve their disputes, either party may file an appropriate motion.

20 IV. Motion to Compel (ECF No. 91)

21 Plaintiffs move to compel Defendants to respond to their discovery requests. ECF No. 91.
22 The Court will grant Plaintiffs’ motion in part and deny it in part. Plaintiffs’ motion to compel is 23 granted to the extent that the Court will order Defendants to respond to Plaintiffs’ discovery
24 requests, given that the Court is denying Defendants’ motion to stay discovery and motion for a 25 protective order. Plaintiffs’ motion is denied to the extent it requests that Defendants be required 26 to produce all responsive documents within 15 days. See id. at 5. The Court agrees with 27 Defendants that 15 days is not a reasonable period within which to require Defendants to produce 28 all responsive documents. See ECF No. 93 at 5. The Court also agrees with Defendants that it is

1 reasonable for the parties to meet and confer about when Defendants will begin producing 2 documents. See id. Accordingly, and as previously stated, Defendants must amend their responses
3 to Plaintiffs' discovery requests within 15 days. The parties must then meet and confer about any 4 disputes over Defendants' responses and a reasonable time frame within which Defendants will 5 begin producing documents. See LR 16-1(d) ("In all cases, the court may order the parties to meet 6 and confer to discuss . . . any other matters the court deems appropriate.").

7 V. Proposed Discovery Plan and Scheduling Order (ECF No. 80)

8 The Court reviewed the parties' proposed discovery plan and scheduling order. ECF No.
9 80. In its broad discretion to control discovery, the Court will deny both the parties' proposed 10 discovery plans. Given the Court's ruling on the motion to stay discovery and the amount of time 11 that has lapsed since the filing of the proposed discovery plan and scheduling order, the Court 12 does not believe that either parties' proposed discovery plans are appropriate or feasible.
13 Accordingly, the Court will order the parties to submit a new proposed discovery plan and 14 scheduling order by May 6, 2021. The parties are advised that the Court does not believe that 15 bifurcated discovery (wherein the parties only conduct discovery on Defendants' statute of 16 limitations defense first) is best for this case. This is so because the Court is far from convinced 17 that Defendants' statute of limitations defense will be decided in Defendants' favor on a motion 18 for summary judgment. And in the absence of this outcome, this case will take an extraordinary 19 amount of time to conclude. Additionally, the parties are advised that the Court hopes the parties 20 can, at a minimum, agree on the "events" (e.g., completion of fact discovery, motion for class 21 certification, etc.) they seek deadlines for (even if they do not agree on what the deadlines should 22 be). In the absence of such an agreement, the Court will choose or create its own discovery plan 23 and scheduling order.

24 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendants' motion to stay discovery (ECF No.
25 77) is DENIED.

26 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants' motion for a protective order (ECF No.
27 84) is DENIED without prejudice.

28

1 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiffs' motion to compel (ECF No. 91) is 2 GRANTED in part and DENIED in part as specified in this order.

3 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants must amend their responses to Plaintiffs'
4 discovery requests within 15 days. The parties must then meet and confer about any disputes over 5 Defendants' responses and a reasonable time frame within which Defendants will begin 6 producing documents.

7 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the parties proposed discovery plan and scheduling
8 order (ECF No. 80) is DENIED.

9 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the parties must file a new proposed discovery plan 10 and scheduling order by May 6, 2021.
